

DON DE ORO FAILS

LANDS AMONG THE ALSO RANS AT GRAVESEND.

Supposed to be good for the Great American stakes, worth ten thousand dollars to the winner—Tara Lands George Kessler by saving his mount at the first and desperate riding at the last—Arbuckle is second and Rhodesia third—St. Maxim also proves a disappointment—Other races.

New York, June 12.—The Great American stakes, worth to the winner $10,000, was the chief attraction at Gravesend today. When it had been run there was a great disappointment for the crack of the year, Don de Oro, who in the also rans, a badly beaten horse, who could not show a bit of the speed he had at Morris park when he looked like the coming winner. Two-year-olds at Gravesend are short, however, and the big striding 14-hands son of Bayou d'Or was unable to negotiate the turn as was the case a year ago with Hand-spring. There was a long delay at the post, caused chiefly by McCafferty, Lammy and Clayton, which cost them 15 seconds, and then Flynn caught them in line and away they went. Rhodesia, the smart Kessie filly, was the first to show out of the rank, followed by Arbuckle. The pair, Don de Oro, George Kessler, San Mateo and Hapazard. In the first furlong Rhodesia took a lead of two lengths, running the distance in 12 seconds. San Mateo was second, a length in front of Kessler, half a length in front of Don de Oro, while for some unaccountable reason Arbuckle had joined Hapazard in the last place. The next furlong was run in 12 seconds as well, but Rhodesia was slowly coming back to the others, as the pace was hot and something was needed for the finish. Tara concluded also that he had better save something for the run, and as they passed the quarter pole, was in the fifth place, with a narrow margin, on Don de Oro, just in front of him, and McCafferty riding at his best legs with Arbuckle. At the three furlong pole, which was at the turn into the stretch, reached in 35 seconds, Rhodesia led but a neck advantage of San Mateo, with Don de Oro a length behind him, followed by Arbuckle, whom McCafferty was taking to the outside for a good position for the final run. Tara came George Kessler, followed by the other two, done up. Here the race was begun in earnest and desperate urging was in order. Rhodesia had got too much of it and was anxious to quit, but Lammy would not let her. San Mateo shut up like a jack knife, and Don de Oro began to show signs of distress. Tara saw a hole near the rail, and, like a shot, he went through it and assumed the lead by a narrow margin, after passing the half mile pole, which was reached in 49½ seconds, with only four left in. There was but a furlong to go, and with the 5000 hanging in front of him, Tara rode his hard, and McCafferty was coming on Arbuckle with one of his wild moves, but Arbuckle could not get up and had to be content with second place, while George Kessler carried over to the third.

St. Maxim was at odds-on in the last race, but Long Beach and Charade crowded him to the rail as hard that he could not get in, and Long Beach won at four odds, Tara rode his hard, Charade getting the race. Tara and Hearts ran away in the third race and was killed. Summaries:

Woman's Writes

Believe in Woman's Writes?

Of course we do. Who could help it when women write such convincing words as these: "For seven years I suffered with scrofula. I had a good physician. Every means of cure was tried in vain. At last I was told to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which entirely cured me after using seven bottles."—Mrs. JOHN A. GENTLE, Fort Fairfield, Me., Jan. 26, 1896.

MADE WILLIAM MAD

SENT A FOOL TO REPRESENT HIM AT MOSCOW.

Prince Henry Receives an Imperial Roast. First, for Allowing Language Offensive to the Princelists to be Used in Their Hearing and, second, for Bailing the Convention. When He Might Have Stayed and Harmonized the Discordant Elements, Including Himself—United Germany Has Cracks in It.

(Copyrighted 1896 by the Associated Press.) Berlin, June 12.—The political sensation of the week, eclipsing even Emperor William's toast to the czar and the telegram of condolence to the widow of Jules Simon, is the speech, which only recently leaked out, of Prince Ludwig of Bavaria, and the strained relations between Berlin and Munich which were thereby revealed. It is true that there have been many indications of ill feeling since a few Americans have passed through Berlin this week on their way from Moscow. General A. D. McCook and Mrs. McCook, ex-Secretary of Legation Crosby of Colorado Springs and ex-Collector Plummer of Philadelphia, are staying at Berlin.

A decree has been issued by which the measurements of the Kaiser's uniform are to be recognized in German ports without re-measurement. They May Not Be Peace. San Francisco, June 12.—The proposed match between Champion Corbett and Tom Sharkey, the marine, on the 24th, it is said, today will not be interrupted by the civic federation.

SALISBURY IN DEEP WATER. Successes of the Egyptian Troops do Not Prove Much, After All. London, Eng., June 13.—Very little has occurred during the week to raise the surface of the British political pond. Mr. A. J. Balfour, the Conservative leader and first lord of the treasury, in order to expedite the Irish land bill, is summoning a meeting of the government on Monday at the Foreign Office. This is a signal of distress upon the part of the government, which is suffering from the effects of the surprise of election promises and finds it necessary to call a conference with the cabinet to discuss the situation.

As a curious coincidence, the German newspapers were only informed of the incident the day Prince Henry of Prussia returned from Moscow, and in court circles it is said that the emperor severely blamed Prince Henry for lack of tact in not himself correcting the slip of the proposal of the toast, in referring to the "princess in the saddle" Prince Henry of Prussia, and in having the fete with the other prince, instead of remaining and thus avoiding widening the breach.

Eye witnesses describe Prince Ludwig as speaking passionately and indignantly. Prince Ludwig's report of the incident to the emperor in no way lessens the import of his words. The Bavarian newspapers applaud the prince's conduct and are approved in South Germany generally.

In government circles here there is a disinclination to discuss the matter, but the independent press is outspoken. "Such conduct," says the Frankfurter Zeitung, "is a most pronounced disapprobation. No matter if it is a prince and a future sovereign, no German, no matter who he is, must cause a quarrel in foreign lands and thus bring the emperor and the empire's fabric is loosened by particularism."

The Vossische Zeitung remarks: Russia and France now believe, and they draw the logical conclusion, that there will at least be a faint resistance at Munich when it is intended to drive the wedge into the German empire. Fortunately we are convinced that the Bavarian court is reckoning without the people, which are thoroughly German, and adhere to the emperor and empire, in spite of the dynasty schemes of their rulers."

Conversing with ex-Governor von Scheide of Saxony, at the army races in the Hopscotch on Monday, the emperor remarked that all that Germany wanted in Africa was the preservation of the status quo. It is thought that Von Scheide may succeed Von Wissmann, whose health is broken down.

EMPEROR'S ITINERARY. Emperor William, the grand duke of Baden and the king of Saxony propose to attend the unveiling of the monument to Emperor William I on Kyffhäuser mountain on June 18. The emperor and his entourage will take part in the ceremony.

IT WILL DRAG OUT

CONVENTION WILL LAST THREE DAYS AT THE VERY LEAST.

Like Other National Conventions Which Have Preceded It, It Will Take the Committee on Credentials Days and Days to Get Ready to Report, While the Convention Will be Meeting for an Hour or Two and Then Adjourning—Platform Will be Decided Upon Next Friday Morning.

St. Louis, June 12.—A general desire obtains among delegates and officers of the convention, and more especially among the St. Louis business men, to figure out how long the convention is likely to last. There being no opposition practically to the nomination of Major McKinley for the presidency it was taken for granted at first that the convention could finish up its work in two or three days, so as to adjourn not later than on Thursday evening. The outlook, however, is far from being promising of such speed.

There are something like 150 contestants to be seated, and they must all go to the committee on credentials, and each contestant will insist on a hearing. It is figured, therefore, that the credentials committee hardly would get through its work in less than two days. The national committee has but to make a temporary roll, and yet it has been in constant session for two days without finishing the work. Besides that, the contestants all have the right to appeal to the convention itself, and they are likely to exercise this right to the utmost.

An examination of the records of previous conventions shows that no one of them since that of 1875, when Hayes and Wheeler were nominated, has concluded its business before the end of the fourth day. At Minneapolis, the convention met on Tuesday, June 7, at 12:16 P. M. and adjourned on Friday, June 10, at 11:00 P. M. The committee on permanent organization, rules, and order of business, credentials and resolutions were announced. Thereupon, at 1:35, after a session of only one hour and forty minutes, the convention adjourned until 11 o'clock the next morning.

The second day the permanent officers were seated and the rules were adopted. The committee on resolutions, which had the platform in charge, was unable to report, and it was granted further time, so that after announcing the members of the national committee the convention adjourned till following day. On Thursday the credentials committee was unable to report in the morning, but did report at an evening session.

At the same time the platform was submitted and adopted without debate or division. Friday morning was consumed in the selection of the permanent officers, and the committee on resolutions, which had the platform in charge, was unable to report, and it was granted further time, so that after announcing the members of the national committee the convention adjourned till following day.

On Saturday the permanent officers were seated and the rules were adopted. The committee on resolutions, which had the platform in charge, was unable to report, and it was granted further time, so that after announcing the members of the national committee the convention adjourned till following day.

On Sunday the permanent officers were seated and the rules were adopted. The committee on resolutions, which had the platform in charge, was unable to report, and it was granted further time, so that after announcing the members of the national committee the convention adjourned till following day.

mittee had exercised the authority that the state central committee had delegated to the congressional committee. Congressman Quigg replied to General McCook in behalf of the contestants. He said that the committee in the case of the Fifteenth district had decided that it would not consider the question of which section held, as both were accorded seats. He claimed that the case of the Thirteenth differed from the case of the Fifteenth in that the Fifteenth was irregular from the beginning. He claimed that the roll was incorrect, that delegates presenting credentials were not on the roll and were excluded, and that accredited delegates were refused admission.

There were many questions asked the representative of the Platt Republicans which indicated that there was no doubt of the determination of the committee. The Fifteenth men were not entitled to seats. The Platt men admitted that they left the hall because the other men were disorderly. Mr. Sutherland of New York said that he claimed the right to move that the McCook and Brookfield be placed on the roll. Mr. Fessenden seconded the motion and it was carried unanimously. Mr. Sutherland said that he was not familiar with the cases but he thought this was a plain case.

The Fifteenth district was then called in this district Joseph Murray and Robert Friedman were the Platt delegates and C. H. T. Collins and Robert J. Wright were the Platt contestants. Mr. Alfonso Spooner opened the case for the contestants. The case was similar to that of the other districts, the case being irregularities in the convention hall. This was a convention where a partial organization was held before it had been called to order by the man designated by the county committee. Mr. Spooner claimed that the other side had then undertaken to organize the case, and that the case was tainted by the party. The case was then taken up by the county committee.

Mr. Quigg made the statement for the Platt men. He said he had advised the case and that the case had been shocked by Collins with employees of the public works department and that Collins had hired the hall for his men. There were two conventions held in the hall on the first night, the first having 33 delegates of 30, of which 20 made affidavits that they voted for the Platt men.

St. Louis, June 12.—A motion to place the four delegates from the Fourteenth and Fifteenth districts, with half a vote each, was lost, 7 to 33. St. Louis, June 14.—The national committee is still in session and has not arrived at a decision in the second case of the Twenty-first New York district. "TIPS" START FOR ST. LOUIS. Five Hundred of Them Leave Cleveland, Ohio, to Whoop Mr. McKinley.

Cleveland, O., June 13.—The members of the Tippecanoe club, 500 strong, started tonight for St. Louis to swell the ranks for Mr. McKinley. Their train will be approximately directed several fine old paintings of McKinley will be displayed and along both sides of the cars will be banners bearing this inscription: "McKinley, Protection, Property and Patriotism—Tippecanoe Club, Cleveland, O." in big black letters. The "Tops" as they are called, will give the people assembled at St. Louis and those living along the route to that city, a sample of the Republican yell of Ohio as they pass. The train is expected to arrive in St. Louis on Monday.

Woman's Realm.

MAKE THE HOME A BLESSING.

The Love of Children is Innate in the Heart of every True Man and Woman.

All that is beautiful and lovely in woman, finds its climax in motherhood. How often we find among our American women that longing for the prattling voice, the idol of their waiting hearts. It is a natural instinct, this yearning of the heart for offspring; yet the wife hesitates to talk with the family physician on this delicate subject. A good way to do is to send for "The People's Medical Adviser," 200 pages, profusely illustrated (wood-cuts and colored plates). Sent on receipt of 21 cents in stamps, for postage and wrapping only, if you address The World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N.Y. The reflections of a married woman are not pleasant if she be delicate, run-down, or debilitated. She feels "played out." Her smile and her good spirits have taken flight. It worries her husband as well as herself.

This is the time to build up her strength and cure these weaknesses or ailments which are the cause of her trouble. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription regulates and promotes all the proper functions of womanhood, improves digestion, enriches the blood, dispels acids and pains, melancholy and nervousness, brings refreshing sleep, and restores perfect health and strength.

It's a safe, reliable agent, an invigorating tonic and purifier which cures all those disorders, weaknesses and derangements incident to womanhood.
